BUSY SESSION FOR COUNCIL

A Petition Granted For a Ditch From Main Street to Hodges Branch.

The Dog Nuisance Was Discussed by Council—City Attorney Talks on Dog Tax.

The City Council met in regular session last night with Mayor Hall, and Councilman Brann, Purcell, Smith and Caldwell present. Very little regular business was transacted at this meeting, but much was done with trivial matters which are of importance to the people of this city.

A petition was read before the Council asking that the property owners on north Main street be allowed to lay a tile ditch from 60 feet east of Main street, down eleven feet, until the Hodges branch is reached. The ditch is to be 4 feet deep and 1600 feet long, and it is to be used only for surface and cellar drainage. This petition was signed by Pat Geraghty, Chas. Mauzy, Greely Mauzy, Norm Norris, and Ben McFarlan. The request was granted upon the condition that $100 bond shall be given in order that the streets and other ditches should be left in same condition as found.

The finance committee reported that the treasurer's and superintendent of Water and Light plant is correct, and then the matter of increasing the bond of treasurer Spivey was brought before the council. On motion of Mr. Caldwell, the treasurer's bond was increased from $15,000 to $16,000. The city attorney was instructed by council to file suit to quiet title on a small lot west of the J. M. & I. railroad, and which is in the Smith and Carr addition to this city.

City Attorney Morris then arose and gave the council a talk on dogs and dog tax. He said the State had given the power to municipal authorities to levy a tax on dogs, and that therefore Rushville could tax dogs to any amount required. He further stated that it was the City Marshal's business to collect this dog tax, and if the owner would not pay, a suit could be filed against him and he can be fined to the amount of five dollars. The council then told the Clerk to instruct the City Marshal to collect dog tax, and in order that this work might be carried on in a systematic manner, it was decided to get a complete list of canines within the city limits.

The matter of hog pens within the city limits was brought up for discussion, and the City Attorney was instructed to find out if the city had authority over the owners of hog pens, which were located at a short distance outside of the city line.

Councilman Brann then moved that the J. M. & I. railroad company be ordered to place a flagman at their crossing on Seventh street. Mr. Brann stated that when school was in session that nearly one third of the school children passed down that street, and that the trains could not be seen at that point on account of buildings which cut off the view.

The City Attorney was instructed to draft an ordinance to order the railroad company to place a flagman at that point.

The Great Central railroad company was again ordered to repair their crossings at Perkins, Main, Morgan and Harrison streets. It was also decided by the council to give the railroad companies orders not to run so fast through the city limits. Orders to this effect have been issued time after time, but they have been disregarded.

Council then adjourned after transacting some minor business, and allowing a few claims.

—Greensburg News: Editor Kaler, wife and son, Frank, of St. Paul were here this morning on their way to Rushville for a short visit.

New Castle Courier: W. H. Delinger and wife, of Orestes, who have been visiting her son, J. A. Delinger, and family, have left for a visit to Rushville and will return in a couple of weeks to their home at Orestes.

SHE MAY COME HERE

Woman Claiming to be Agent
For Masonic Paper Creates
Sensation at Greensburg

A woman giving her name as P. M. Johnson and her home in a southern city, claiming to be a solicitor for the Masonic Voice-Review and Eastern Star Signet, published in Chicago, struck Greensburg, Saturday afternoon, and registered at the DeArmond. It wasn't very many hours till things in her neighborhood commenced to be lively and continued to be so until very late. The woman claimed to be short of money and lately to have sustained a bad strain in one of her ankles. During the evening she purchased one of the drug stores a half pint of whisky, and when the bottle was found later in her room it was nearly empty. She became very sick later and some of the members of the Eastern Star were sent for and administered to her. When again visited by officers of the order she declined to give the name or number of the chapter to which she belonged or the name of her Worthy Matron.

ATTEMPTS LIFE WHILE INSANE

Physician Arrives in Time to Prevent Act From Becoming Fatal—Is Out of Danger.

(Connersville News, Monday.)

Suffering from nervous disorders and melancholia, Mrs. Leon A. Martin, an estimable lady, of Bunker Hill, attempted to end her life, Sunday evening by taking a dose of arsenic. The lady in company with her husband had attended the afternoon service of the Regular Baptist basket meeting at Village creek and apparently enjoyed the outing very much.

It was shortly after returning home, that Mr. Martin noticed that his wife was very ill, and believing her to be suffering from an attack of acute stomach trouble, he at once summoned Doctor H. H. Elliott, of Glenwood, who fortunately arrived in haste, for it was only by the timely use of the stomach pump and emetics that the life of the unfortunate woman was saved. Today, Mrs. Martin was out of danger, but is still confined to her bed.

Friends of Mrs. Martin are of the opinion that her mind was temporarily deranged at the time of committing the act, that condition having been brought on by her affliction. There was no known cause for the deed.

MRS. ANNA BANKERT

Hearing Is Postponed

Mrs. Bankert's Preliminary
Trial Will be Held on September 1st.

Coroner Coleman Proceeds With
Inquest—Mrs. Bankert Worries.

A preliminary hearing was not given Mrs. Anna Bankert, this morning, for the reason that the defendant's attorneys asked more time, in order that Coroner Coleman may finish his inquest before the hearing, and in order that they might have more time in which to prepare their defense. It is understood that the prosecution has not completed its side of the case although the authorities say that they are pretty well satisfied with their side of the case.

The prosecution and defense have postponed the preliminary hearing until Friday, September 1st, at 9 a. m. The trial will be held in Squire Jackson's court.

A large number of people crowded the Squire's office this morning. Mrs. Bankert entered in company with the Sheriff Bainbridge. She seemed very calm but noticed no one. She wore a black dress with a black silk cape, a white veil, a brown straw hat and black kid gloves.

All eyes were turned upon her in the court room, but she did not seem to mind being stared at. Her husband and her attorneys entered the room shortly after Mrs. Bankert had taken a seat at the left of Squire Jackson. Prosecutor Kiplinger entered shortly and Mr. and Mrs. Bankert, their attorneys, Watson, Tittsworth and Green and Wallace Morgan and Prosecutor Kiplinger and Squire Jackson repaired to an ante-room and held a consultation. Later they returned and announced that there would be no preliminary hearing today as it had been postponed. Deputy Prosecutor Kiplinger, Congressman Watson and Squire Jackson agreed upon Friday, September 1st, as the date. It was desired by the prosecution to hold the trial on next Thursday, August 24th, but Congressman Watson who will leave soon on a trip to New York will be away at that time. It will hurry him to return by September 1st.

Among the witnesses subpoenaed for the trial are George Carr, Peter Maffett, Claude Waler, Sadie Smay, Frank Cameron, Coroner Coleman, Dr. F. H. Green, Sheriff Bainbridge, William King and Chris King. Mrs. Bankert is beginning to give down under the strain to which she has been subjected. She seems to be worrying some, but receives some callers. Last night a drunken man was placed in a cell near her and his utterances and behavior considerably unnerved her she says.

Mrs. Bankert is given every courtesy at the jail by Sheriff Bainbridge and things are made as comfortable for her as possible.

No one is allowed to see Mrs. Bankert except her relatives, or her attorneys or the county officials. This morning a woman, giving her name as Mrs. Vance, of North Vernon, called at the jail saying that she was Mrs. Bankert's younger sister. Later she called and it was learned that she was her niece and not her sister.

COMPLIMENT TO RUSH CO. BOY

Frank Smith, Formerly of This City Complimented by Hartford City Times.

Hartford City Times.

"Frank Smith, the genial salesman, who has been employed by the commission firm of Brewington & Leonard for the past several years, has resigned his position to take a place with A. H. Perfect & Son, wholesale grocers, of Ft. Wayne. The new position is in the nature of a promotion in that line of business, and is well deserved. Perfect & Son's establishment is the largest wholesale grocery firm in Ft. Wayne, and Mr. Smith will act as house salesman for the company. He leaves August the 20th, but for the present he will reside in this city."

Frank Smith, the young man, spoken of in this article in the son of Jabez Smith, of this city, and his friends are glad to hear his success and promotion.

Morris Winship expects to move into his new house on east Fifth street in a week or ten days.

Mr. Joyce has severed his connection with the case and has been succeeded by Watson, Tittsworth & Green.

CHAUTAUQUA DRAW CROWDS

Ramon Reyes Lala, the Filipino Lecturer, Entertains Large Audience

The Chautauqua is Appreciated by the Public—Weather Does Not Keep Away Crowds.

Everyone is being pleased by the Chautauqua entertainments, especially were they pleased Tuesday night, when Senor Ramon Reyes Lala, the Filipino author, lecturer and publicist, gave his entertaining illustrated lecture on the "Philippines and the People."

Lala was an exceedingly good lecturer. His high and clear voice, together with his good command of English, tended to impress his good sound thoughts upon his auditors. Many people thought that Lala would not be a good English speaker, as he is a full blooded Filipino, but they were mistaken in this conjecture, as he spoke our language as fluently as most Americans. His lecture was illustrated by 195 views of his native country and people. The audience received much information on the character and habits of the natives of Lala's country.

Lala is the author of a book acknowledged to be the best authority on the past and present history of the Philippine Islands. This work has received highest mention by the critics in this country. The Chicago Lyceum Ladies' Quartet also pleased the audience last night, and many expressed their desire of hearing them again.

The Rush county teacher's institute is also being well attended, and the lectures by Prosser and Green are liked very much. Prof. Green lectured here last year, and he never failed to please his audience then, but nearly every one says that his lectures are better this year than last. The program for the teachers institute for today was as follows:

8:45.—Opening Exercises.
9:00.—Lecture, Prosser.
9:40.—Rest.
9:50.—Music.
10:00.—Lecture, Green.
10:40.—Rest.
10:50.—Music.
11:00.—Lecture, Prosser.
1:00.—Music.
1:15.—Lecture, Green.

The Chautauqua entertainments were attended by large crowds this afternoon, and the entertainment by the Heaton Sisters pleased an appreciative audience. The Beilharz company gave an entertainment at three o'clock this afternoon of the highest character. Prof. Beilharz is an impersonator of exceptional ability, and Mrs. Beilharz has a widely known reputation as a vocalist and an instrumental list. This company will give the "Hoosier School Matron," tonight, and this is considered their best entertainment. Another noted feature of the Chautauqua entertainment this afternoon was the lecture by L. B. Wickersham on "Day Dream."

The program for Thursday, August 17th, is as follows:

8:45.—Opening Exercises.
9:00.—Lecture, Prosser.
9:40.—Rest.
9:50.—Music.
10:00.—Lecture, Green.
10:40.—Rest.
10:50.—Music.
11:00.—Lecture, Prosser.
1:00.—Music.
1:15.—Lecture, Green.
2:30.—Chautauqua Prelude, Heaton Sisters.
3:00.—Assembly Lecture, "Tallow Dips," by Robert Parker Miles.
7:30.—Prelude, Heaton Sisters.
8:00.—Lecture, "Chickens Come Home to Roost," L. B. Wickersham.

ORDINANCES NOT SIGNED

A Startling Discovery Made at Council Meeting Tuesday Night.

A startling discovery was made in the city council meeting Tuesday night when it was found that many of the supposed city ordinances had not been signed by the Mayor, acting at the time when they were passed. Some of the ordinances have been enforced by the city at different times, and the city did this not knowing that they did not have a right to do so.

The city clerk was instructed to look over all the ordinances, and to report those which are not signed in the proper form. When this work is completed the council will pass those ordinances and they will be signed by the mayor of this city.

RUSHVILLE 4 GREENSBURG 2

Dugan Makes it Three Straight From the Reds in Six Inning Game.

Rushville won from Greensburg, Tuesday, by a score of 4 to 2. This makes the third consecutive victory which the local team has won over Greensburg, and it is beginning to seem that Rushville has shaken off the old "hoodoo" which had been placed upon her by the Greensburg team.

Only six innings of the game were played Tuesday, as the local team lost all of their rival's base-balls, and as the game could not be played with tennis balls, it was called off. Dugan and McClellan formed the battery for Rushville, and Falls and Hunche did the slab work for Greensburg. The two teams played in this city this afternoon.

The condition of Bert Mull who is sick with typhoid fever at his home west of town is not improved.

THE WRECK IS CLEARED AWAY

Three Wrecking Crews Have Much Difficulty in Doing the Work

The Great Central's Depot is Being Repaired For Temporary Occupancy.

After hours of unceasing efforts the three wrecking crews have at last succeeded in clearing away the wreckage in front of the Great Central depot in this city. It took twenty-four hours to haul off all the wreckage, and to put the tracks into a good condition again.

The Great Central depot is being repaired for temporary occupancy, and it is thought that the railroad company will soon build another station, although this matter has not yet been decided upon. About twenty men are now at work making these necessary repairs.

The Pennsylvania engine was lifted from the wreck at about 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, and as the large crane lifted the ruined engine in the air, it struck the chimney of the depot and this was instantly torn down. Much excitement was caused for a time by this accident, as the brick from the chimney came near falling upon a crowd of eager spectators.

The work of rescuing the Great Central's engine from the wreck was very difficult but the wrecking crews finally managed to get it on trucks at about 11 o'clock Tuesday night. Chains were attached to the engine, but when pulled upon the wrecking engine, they would break into many pieces. Ropes were then used to do this work but they were not strong enough to stand the strain. The brick platform in front of the railroad station was almost destroyed by the crash, and this will be repaired as soon as the material arrives. The switches and rails near the front where the accident occurred were badly damaged, but these were replaced by new material this morning.

Claim agent Fox, of the Great Central railroad company, is in this city today looking into the wreck and locating those who were injured. He says that an inquiry as to the cause of the wreck will probably begin tomorrow at Indianapolis. The blame has not yet been fixed, and he says that he does not know what his road will do about a new depot.

It is yet a question of dispute as to whether or not the Pennsylvania freight stopped before reaching the Great Central's crossing. The men on the Pennsylvania train say that a stop was made according to the law, but the statement is contradicted by eye witnesses of the wreck. It is known that neither railroad company was in the habit of stopping their trains at this point, and if the Pennsylvania train did stop Tuesday morning, it was something unusual.

A railroad man stated Tuesday evening that the Great Central railroad company could not blame their engineer for the wreck, as he said he was acquainted with the circumstances under which the Great Central engineer had to work. He said that the railroad company had very strict railroad crossing rules, but he further stated that if one of their engineers was very often late, that he would lose his position. It is known that the Great Central has a very fast schedule, and to make the required time, an engineer cannot obey the crossing rules of this railroad. This railroad man said that he did not think that the engineers were expected to obey these rules, but when an accident like the one Tuesday occurs, the company blames the engineer for it. It is not known how true these statements are, but many people say that they are facts.

No one was killed in the wreck, and no one was seriously injured, although the wreck placed much peril over the passengers and trainmen for a time. Traffic upon the two railroads has again been resumed, and the scene of the wreck has again taken a calm appearance, excepting that work which is being carried on upon the damaged depot.

RUSHVILLE, IND., AUG. 16, 1905

It has been frequently stated that the exodus of Americans into Canada has been checked, but such does not seem to be the case. Americans are still flocking into northwest Canada, and those seeking Canadian wheat lands are the sturdy, enterprising, thrifty people who did much toward redeeming the American wilderness and, as a rule, are fairly provided with capital to build up new homes.

Greenfield Republican: "The Hon. John K. Gowdy, who has served his country at gay Paris for the past eight years, is to be home about October 1, and it is hinted that he will be a candidate for Governor at the first opportunity. Possibly he will change his mind when he gets back to Indiana and has a few heart-to-heart talks with the boys who have been doing the fighting in the trenches while he was charging up and down the boulevards of the French capital behind that pair of black thorough-breds."

The Standard Oil Company has practically closed a contract with the American Tin Plate Company for 2,000,000 boxes of tin plate at a price somewhat in excess of $5,000,000. This is probably the largest single order ever placed for tin, and will assure work for a large number of men for at least two years. This industry is one of the many established by the McKinley law. Fifteen years ago we were making no tin plate in this country, but sending abroad $20,000,000 a year for it. Now we are making annually over 1,000,000,000 pounds, and the price is less than we were paying for it when imported.

Hon. John C. Billheimer, of Washington, D. C., congressman, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination of Auditor of State next year. Mr. Billheimer has been practicing law successfully in Washington, and is the efficient Republican district chairman of the Second congressional district, and as such has made a record that is almost unequalled. At present he is the acting Deputy Auditor of State, and as such he is in a position to fully learn the duties that will confront him when he takes the office. Personally, it is said, he is an affable, open-hearted man and we bespeak for him the consideration of the Republicans of the State.

A FINE COMPLIMENT
 Congressman Watson's Oratorical Ability Receives Recognition.

Indianapolis, Aug. 15.—Congressman James E. Watson of Rushville has turned down an offer from a lecture bureau of $10,000 for a 100-days' lecture tour next year. The offer is probably the finest of the kind ever made to an Indiana congressman—at least in recent years, and it is regarded as a high compliment to Congressman Watson. Many of his followers don't understand why he turned down an opportunity for so much "easy money," as $10,000 for 100 days' work looks as big as a mountain to most people, but one of his friends here said today that Mr. Watson did not care to take that much time away from his congressional duties. It would have also interfered with his law business. Mr. Watson's reputation as a public orator has grown very rapidly during the last few years.

It is cold comfort the representatives of the protesting corporations are getting from the members of the state board of tax commissioners in their arguments for a reduction of the valuations made at the first session. The members of the board are courteous, of course, and give all the tax agents a careful hearing, but it is not believed that many reductions will be made. The members seem "loaded for bear" whenever a tax agent presents a fresh reason why the valuation should be lowered. For instance, when Charles S. Bash, president of the Home Telephone company of Fort Wayne, appeared to ask for a reduction, Governor Hanly met him with a report of his own company showing that the earnings justified even a larger valuation than had been made. The governor asked him if the plant, according to the earnings, was not worth at least $250,000. Mr. Bash was caught in a trap for he had to admit that it was. Inasmuch as the valuation fixed by the board was but $132,000, the members made Mr. Bash's appeal look inconsistent. They have gone at other tax agents in the same manner, indicating that they do not look very favorably on their efforts.

The first case to test the Moore law under which a remonstrance may be filed against applicants for retail liquor license in a ward or township has reached the appellate court from Benton county. Judge Rabb of Williamsport held that the board of county commissioners had no authority to grant a license to any applicant for two years where a blanket remonstrance has been filed. George Sanaack, the applicant, appealed from his decision. The ruling of the higher court will determine whether or not the new law is constitutional.

The members of the commission appointed by Governor Hanly to select a site for the proposed epileptic village, for which an appropriation was made by the last legislature, met here this afternoon and arranged to visit all the sites offered. The various places wanting the institution are Huntington, Winamac, Mishawaka, Monon, Monticello, Spencer, Crawfordville, Rockville, Logansport, Shoals, Henryville, Paoli, St. Pierre, Hamlet, North Judson and Connersville.

Going After the Standard.
 Jefferson City, Mo., Aug. 16.—Attorney General H. S. Hadly and Frank Blake, one of his assistants, left today for Cleveland, O., and thence to New York to look up evidence in the suit against the Standard Oil company. Mr. Hadly will seek not only to impose a heavy fine upon the company, but to oust it from its franchise as a corporation in Missouri and to withdraw its privilege to do business in this state.

Coroner's Verdict.
 Crawfordville, Ind., Aug. 16.—Coroner Riley in his verdict in the killing of Panel Beckner, which occurred in a woods near Darlington, finds that John James is guilty of shooting Beckner, and also of shooting the colored preacher, Derrickson, who was with them at the time. Coroner Riley found that the crime was premeditated and that robbery was the cause.

Another Interurban Deal.
 South Bend, Ind., Aug. 16.—A contract has been let in New York for financing the Chicago, Lake Shore & South Bend Electric railway, which the promoters claim insures the building of the road. Work is to be commenced at once and the line will be double tracked between the terminal points.

Injunction Made Permanent.
 Portland, Ore., Aug. 16.—Judge Frazer, in the state circuit court, has made permanent the injunction prohibiting betting at the Irvington track. The decision will result in the closing of the track and about 600 horses now quartered there will be taken to California and other racing centers.

 Baden-Baden, Aug. 16.—Two children were killed during the motor car reliability run from Baden-Baden to Nuremberg. The accident occurred while the car was rounding a corner.

WITH ONE ACCORD

Peace Envoys Unanimously Agree to "Open Door" in China.

CRISIS APPROACHING

There Are Other Points Upon Which Unanimity Can Not Be Expected and Deadlock May Follow.

On the Other Hand However There Is a Feeling That Compromise May Be Reached.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 16.—The crisis in the peace negotiations upon which the eyes of the world are fastened is approaching rapidly, and the end of this week or the first of next at the latest should witness the deadlock and the end, if the conference is to go to pieces. Two more of the twelve articles, Nos. 4 and 6, were disposed of yesterday. Article 4 consists of mutual pledges to observe the integrity of China and the policy of the "open door" for the commerce of all nations, and Article 6 covers the surrender of the Russian leases to the Liaotung peninsula, Port Arthur, Dally and the Blonde and Elliott islands. To Article 4 both parties gave ready assent and the official statement of the adoption of that article took care to state that it was agreed to "unanimously." Article 5, the consideration of which was postponed until later, provides for the cession of the Island of Sakhalin. Discussion appearing useless at this stage on account of the firm negative given in the Russian reply, it was decided upon the motion of the Japanese to defer its discussion, thus revealing the Japanese intention of postponing to the end the life and death struggle.

This is the usual procedure followed in diplomatic negotiations, enabling the negotiators to come to an accord upon all possible points before tackling the crucial issues, and the fact that the Russians acquiesced in the proposition shows that they, too, are as careful and as anxious as the Japanese that the world should not accuse them of being responsible for precipitating the break, if break there is to be, and wrecking the conference. This in itself is a hopeful sign. Besides, by postponing the burning questions to the end the psychological moment for bargain and compromise arrives. Then hurriedly the last trump cards, and the game is done. And there is growing hope of compromise. To the closest observers the final solution begins to crystallize quite naturally—the Russians yielding the cession of Sakhalin, Japan foregoing the cost of the war; but taking compensation in the money to be refunded to Japan by China on account of the transfer to her of the Chinese Eastern railroad, the Russian government property in Port Arthur and Dally and remuneration for the maintenance of the 100,000 Russian prisoners in Japan.

All questions relating to Korea and Manchuria except the cession of the Chinese Eastern railroad and the main Siberian line running through northern Manchuria from the station "Manchuria," on the Amur via Harbin to Vladivostok, are settled in the five articles already adopted. Some confusion has arisen about those articles, and the following resume can be accepted as absolutely accurate:

1. Recognition of Japan's "preponderating influence" in Korea, etc.
2. Mutual obligation to evacuate Manchuria, Russia to retrocede to China all special privileges, etc.
3. Japanese obligation to restore the sovereignty and administration of China in Manchuria.
4. Mutual obligations to respect the territorial and administrative integrity of China and the principle of the "open door."
5. The surrender of the Russian leases to the Liaotung peninsula, including Port Arthur, Dally and the Blonde and Elliott islands.

The remaining seven articles (not given in numerical order) are: The cession of Sakhalin, reimbursement for the cost of the war, the cession to China of the Chinese Eastern railroad, the article relating to that portion of the main line of the Siberian railroad running through northern Manchuria, which includes provision for policing of the road by China and not by Russia, fishing rights on the Siberian coast north of Vladivostok to the Bering sea, the article affecting Russia's naval power in the far East, and that providing for the surrender of the Russian warships interned in far Eastern waters. To all of these Russia has more or less objection.

A HOPEFUL SIGN
 Russia Notes Action of Peace Envoys With Feelings of Relief.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 16.—The decision of the plenipotentiaries at Portsmouth to waive for the present consideration of the article relating to the Island of Sakhalin and to proceed with the discussion of points that Russia is willing to accept as a basis of negotiations, is received here with some surprise and even relief by the Russian public generally. The postponement of the discussion of one of the two points on which the fate of the conference hangs is considered a good sign, but not a sure one, and the general opinion remains one of doubt, though pessimism is losing ground as the days pass without a rupture between the envoys.

The foreign office maintains complete reserve regarding the proceedings at Portsmouth, and all the news relating to the Portsmouth conference has been conveyed to the Russian public through the medium of press dispatches.

The idea is advanced at several of the embassies that an outlet may possibly be found in a compromise on the two main points of the dispute, if Japan is willing to give up Sakhalin and receive from Russia not a general war indemnity, but payment for any rights that may be acquired by virtue of occupation by the Japanese troops.

Anxious for a Fight.
 Fusan, Aug. 16.—The Japanese army is anxious to commence operations. The higher officers do not believe that the military progress has been sufficient to justify the expectation that Russia will concede the terms necessarily required by Japan. If the war continues the nature of the country and of the conditions point to the likelihood that future operations will be restricted to the neighborhood of the railway. Wide turning movements as suggested in the European press, are not likely to be features of the campaign, nor is it possible that any great military results will ensue this year.

Severe Sentence Appealed.
 Odessa, Aug. 16.—The military procurator has appealed against the decision of a courtmartial which sentenced two boys each to twenty years and a girl to thirteen years penal servitude for being in possession of explosives. The procurator asks for capital punishment.

Japs Get a Setback.
 Godzyadani, Manchuria, Aug. 16.—Two Japanese torpedo boats bombarded Port Hazarevo (Port Lazareff, Korea). An attempt was then made to land troops, but they were beaten off by Russian chasseurs.

STARVING SPAIN
 In Certain Districts the Distress Is Acute.

Seville, Spain, Aug. 16.—A commission of landed proprietors and farmers have laid before the authorities the conditions prevailing in and about Osona in Andalusia. They estimate that there are 5,000 workmen armed with rifles roaming about the country. The municipal authorities disclaim responsibility for this condition of affairs. The jails are crowded with persons who have committed no offense but who have given themselves up to the police on the pretense of having committed a crime in order to procure shelter and food. The charitable societies have exhausted their resources and government action is anxiously awaited.

The Mysterious Mr. Dove.
 Chicago, Aug. 16.—State warrants have been reported by Justice Caverly naming George Lawrence, formerly employed as a chauffeur for various wealthy Chicagoans, as the murderer of William Bate, the young chauffeur whose dead body was found in an automobile at a lonely spot in the road two miles beyond Lemont at daylight on the morning of Nov. 19, 1904. Chief Collins is confident that at last he has identified the mysterious "Mr. Dove."

Philadelphia's Disgrace.
 Philadelphia, Aug. 16.—According to a statement made by the director of the department of public safety based on a canvass made by the police, there are 60,085 names on the voting lists of this city which under the law have no right to be thereon. The assessors in all the voting divisions of the city will be asked to strike the alleged fraudulent names from the lists.

Two Men and Horse Killed.
 Peru, Ind., Aug. 16.—John C. Howley and Ernest Campbell sought shelter from the storm by driving into a barn at Wynn, near here. Both men and the horse were killed by lightning. The barn was not damaged.

TERSE TELEGRAMS
 It is now understood that the Moroccan conference will meet at Madrid.

The national convention of railway commissioners is in session at Deadwood.

Ten thousand dollars will be raised by the Chinese of Portland to aid in the boycott in China against American goods.

Giuseppe Nicolao, who was one of Adelina Patti's foremost teachers, is dead in poverty in New York, aged eighty years.

The National Baptist convention, which was to have been held at Chicago Sept. 13-19, has been postponed until October 25.

The Chinese boycott is stated in Honolulu to have had its origin there, where it was urged among Chinese as long ago as February, 1901.

F. Clay Elkin, postmaster at Lexington, Ky., who died suddenly of heart dilation, was the youngest first-class postmaster in the service.

The twenty-first annual convention and exhibition of the Society of American Florists and Ornamental Horticulturists is in session at Washington.

MOSQUITO THEORY

Cause of Yellow Fever Is Now Being Popularly Accepted.

AN EXPERT ARRIVES

Dr. John Gutierrez Who Made Memorable Fight Against Yellow Jack in Cuba On Scene.

He Is Making a Thorough and Scientific Investigation of Gulf Cities.

New Orleans, Aug. 16.—New cases yesterday, 62; total to date, 1,080; deaths yesterday, 6; total, 172; new foci, 19; total to date, 229.

New Orleans, Aug. 16.—The arrival of Dr. John Gutierrez, the Cuban yellow fever expert, and his tour of the seat of worst infection, is the most interesting present feature of the yellow fever situation. Dr. Gutierrez left Havana to make an inspection of the gulf cities in connection with the Cuban quarantine and to offer his assistance in the campaign in progress here. He landed first in Florida, thence went to Mobile, inquired into conditions on the gulf coast of Mississippi, and finally came here, his previous visit to New Orleans being in 1897, when there was also an appearance of yellow fever and when the mosquito theory had not been demonstrated.

On his arrival Dr. Gutierrez went immediately to the offices of the marine hospital service for an interview with Surgeon White. Dr. White went at length into the conditions prevailing and described the progress of the campaign, saying that there was popular acceptance of the mosquito theory and that all interests were co-operating in the effort to control and if possible to eradicate the disease. Later Dr. Gutierrez joined Drs. Corput and Richardson of the marine hospital staff for a tour of the old French market quarter where the fever first appeared, and where it has raged most fiercely. On every side he saw evidences of thoroughness with which the marine hospital service has conducted its fight to eliminate the mosquito from the district. Dr. Gutierrez was thoroughly pleased with the results of his inspection and expects to see here universal acceptance of the mosquito theory at the end of the present campaign.

The situation shows an improvement both as to new cases and deaths, considering the totals of last week, and while the marine hospital officials are unwilling to be quoted now, they are known to entertain most hopeful views.

Echo of the Taggart Case.
 Washington, Aug. 16.—It is now stated at the war department that charges were filed there last April against Major Taggart, who is suing his wife for divorce in Ohio, but no action has been taken upon the charges nor will anything be done until the termination of the present suit. The charges relate to matters out of which the divorce suit has grown. Taggart also filed charges against Col. Miner some time ago, but they were considered trivial and were dismissed.

An Exciting Race to Dock.
 Block Island, R. I., Aug. 16.—The steamer New Shoreham while entering the harbor on her trip from Providence with 100 passengers, struck a sunken wreck and after an exciting run for the dock, sank to the main deck just as she ranged alongside the pier. The passengers were able to land over the usual gang plank.

Depositors Received Favors.
 Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 16.—The books of the defunct German bank, just produced by court order for the inspection of the creditors' organization, show large amounts were withdrawn by a few depositors on the Saturday preceding the closing of the bank, and on Monday, Dec. 5, the day of the failure.

Reviving a Desert Sea.
 San Bernardino, Cal., Aug. 16.—The entire flow of the Colorado river is now passing into the Salton Sink, and the water there is rising an inch every twenty-four hours.

CONSIDER THIS OUTING

To Famous Seashore Resorts, in Planning Your Vacation.

By far the most attractive trip for health and pleasure the coming vacation season is that offered by the Seashore excursion Thursday, August 17th, over Pennsylvania Lines to Atlantic City, Cape May and seven other famous summer havens on the Atlantic Coast.

The fast through trains over Pennsylvania Lines take passengers in a few hours out of the heat and humidity of summer to the cool breezes of old ocean. This Mid August excursion occurs in the season for rest, when it is most convenient to leave business. Excursionists have the added pleasure of seeing Atlantic City when it is in full tide of the fashionable season. The greatest representative gatherings ever known at any resort are seen at Atlantic City. As many as 50,000 people at one time promenade the famous board walk. The fashionable bathing houses present an unparalleled scene—fully 100,000 bathers in the sea and on the beach.

The healthful effect of the seashore trip is due to salt and pine air. So beneficial has this proved that physicians send their patients there to get the benefit of breathing the pure ocean air.

Special low fares will be in effect for this Seashore excursion. Full information will be freely given by local ticket agents of the Pennsylvania Lines.

OFFICIAL REPORTS

Government Gets Word Regarding Chinese Boycott.

Washington, Aug. 16.—Dispatches received at the state department from China show that Shanghai is the only place where the boycott against American goods has assumed anything like a serious aspect. At Canton the movement has made some headway, but at other points it has not been successful. This information was supplied in response to instructions sent some days ago to Minister Rockhill and the consular officers in China to keep the state department advised as to the progress of the boycott. One dispatch on this subject was not made public at the state department, but sent to the president at Oyster Bay.

A Retaliatory Measure.

San Francisco, Aug. 16.—J. W. Davidson, acting consul general at Shanghai, who has just arrived from the Orient, says that the cause of the Chinese boycott is the discourteous treatment which the sons of influential Chinese officials have received at the hands of immigration officials on landing at San Francisco.

King Edward and Fun in England

"How Are You, Little Chap?"—Wonderful Tact of Great Britain's Sovereign.—Richard Croker and the Alarm Clock

By MARSHALL P. WILDER

From "The Sunny Side of the Street," by Marshall P. Wilder. Copyright, 1905, by Funk & Wagnall Company.

If all kings were as competent as the genial and tactful gentleman who recently ascended the British throne it would be a thankless job to start a new republic anywhere. Personally I have strong grounds for this opinion, for I had the pleasure of meeting his majesty many times while he was Prince of Wales, and these meetings were due entirely to his kindness of nature and generally were of his own initiative.

I don't imagine he knew it, but the Prince of Wales once lifted me out of an uncomfortable fix as I ever got into London. The Ancient and Honorable artillery, Boston's swell military organization, visited England in 1896 as guests of the Ancients and Honorables of London, who entertained them handsomely and had them presented to her majesty the queen. The Boston company in turn gave a great dinner to their hosts. Some Americans then in the city were invited, and I had the good fortune to be of the number.

The spectacle was brilliant in the extreme, nine out of every ten men present being in full dress uniform. The entire assemblage was gathered informally in two long, glittering rows, awaiting the Prince of Wales, who was always the soul of punctuality. I had many acquaintances in the two uniformed bodies, as well as among the nonuniformed guests, and was moving about from one to another. I was in conventional evening dress, and had a tiny American flag pinned to the lapel of my coat.

"How Are You, Little Chap?"

The master of ceremonies, whose manner was more consequential than that of any distinguished person in the room, seemed annoyed that any civilians were present, and he did his utmost to separate them from the soldiers. I had the misfortune to become his bete noire. Whenever he found me among the military men he gently but persistently pressed me away, but no sooner did he eject me in one direction than I reappeared from another and between two pairs of gayly appareled soldiers' legs, so I made the poor fellow nervous and fussy to the verge of distraction.

Exactly at 8 o'clock the Prince of Wales was announced and every one came to attention. He entered with the genial smile which was an inseparable part of him and shook hands with the American minister and other dignitaries. Soon he spied me, came across the room, greeted me very kindly and said:

"How are you, little chap?"

"Very well, thank you, sir," I replied.

"I am to hear you tomorrow night at the Duke of Devonshire's. I understand," he continued. "Won't you give us that mother-in-law pantomime of yours?"

"Certainly, sir," I answered. As the prince left me and ascended the stairs I saw the master of ceremonies, who had witnessed the meeting, was visibly disturbed. Soon he literally hovered about me and displayed a fixed and conciliatory smile. The guests began to follow the prince, and as they passed up the stairs many of them greeted me. Senator Dewey remarked:

"Hello, Marshall, how are you?"

"That dear old gentleman and English idol, John L. Toole, passed, blinked merrily at me and said:

"Glad to see you again, Marshall. How are you?"

An Army Celebrity.

Presently the master of ceremonies turned nervously to an English officer and asked, with an aggrieved tone in his voice:

"Who is this little chap, anyway? Everybody seems to know him."

The officer did not chance to know me, but an English sergeant who was of the attendant guard and was willing to impart information said: "He belongs to the American army. He's a marshal." The great functionary immediately regarded me with profound respect, not unmixed with wonder at the modesty of great American soldiers, for an officer of my supposedly exalted rank was entitled to follow close behind his royal highness.

Tact of King Edward.

King Edward has wonderful tact. This quality is not restricted to public purposes. His acquaintances know that it is untiringly exercised for the benefit of Queen Alexandra, of whose deafness he was never unmindful. Often, when I had the honor to entertain the royal family and their friends, it was my duty to face the king (then Prince of Wales). Sometimes this placed me—embarrassingly too—with my back to the greater part of the audience. But the prince was regardless of custom, and his own royal prerogative when his consort's enjoyment was endangered.

On one occasion when he saw that the princess was not hearing me distinctly he said softly to me, "Mr. Wilder, kindly turn your face toward the princess."

A Polite Princess.

And her royal highness is as tactful as he. The audience at a special entertainment given the shah of Persia in London included the most distinguished and wealthy people in the city. I was among those engaged to entertain the shah, beside whom sat the princess (now Queen Alexandra). As his Persian majesty was ignorant of the English language, it was not strange that he held his programme upside down. This might have occasioned a laugh and caused the shah some mortification had not the princess deftly turned her own programme upside down and kept it so during the performance.

Croker and the Clock.

During one of my visits to Richard Croker at Wantage his son Bert was fond of getting up early in the morning to hunt mushrooms, and in order to be awakened he would set an alarm clock. "Early morning" in England and at that season of the year was from 3 to 4 o'clock, for dawn comes much earlier than with us. His father did not wish him to arise so early, so he would go softly into Bert's room and turn off the alarm, to assure a full night's sleep for the boy. The fact that he could not hear the alarm worried Bert so greatly that he placed the clock directly over his head, hanging it to a string from the ceiling. But even in this position Mr. Croker succeeded in manipulating it, and he gleefully told me of it at the time.

Before starting from London for Wantage one day Mr. Croker asked me to go to a furniture dealer with him; he had some purchases to make. As we entered the place he said to me, "We've only half an hour in which to catch the train." But the way he bought furniture did not make him lose the train. He would say, pointing to a dresser:

"How much is that?"

"Six guineas, sir."

"Give me six of them."

Pointing to another:

"How much is that one?"

"Five guineas, sir."

"Well, seven of those," and so on.

With such rapid fire, even though he expended more than a thousand dollars, and not at haphazard either, there was ample time to catch the train. The incident, though slight in itself, is indicative of his quickness of decision, but it so utterly upset the dealer, accustomed to English deliberation, that he begged permission to wait until next day to prepare an itemized bill.

Past Masters of Sarcasm.

I went one day into a London restaurant where a great many people were dining, yet absolute silence prevailed instead of the buzz of chatter and laughter of a French or American restaurant. I asked a waiter:

"Doesn't any one ever laugh here?"

"Yes, sir," he replied. "Sometimes we 'ave complaints, sir."

The first natives to accost an American are the "cabbies," and they are a never failing source of amusement to me. They abound in natural wit and are past masters of sarcasm. One of the sharpest bits I ever heard was told about an old cabby and one of his younger fellows. The former was a master of whip and rein. He boasted that he knew every foot of London and declared that, although he had been in many tight places, he had never failed to drive out smoothly. One day, however, he lost control of his horse and ran into a young cabby's outfit. The younger man looked him over condescendingly, contemptuously, and then asked:

"Well? An' 'ow do you like London?"

A friend of mine once took a cab drawn by an animal which was bony in the extreme. The driver has hailed by the Jehu of a passing cab with:

"Oi sally, Bill, I see yer goin' to 'ave a new 'orse."

"'Oo told yer so?"

"W'y, I see y've got the framework there."

The Merciful Policeman.

Every summer when I revisit England some old acquaintance is sure to say, "Mr. Wilder, those stories you told last year are awfully funny." It has really taken him about a year to get at the points of the various tales. He doesn't lack appreciation of humor, but he is so accustomed to having it served in only one way that he is puzzled when it appears in a new form. One day I told an English audience about New York's fire department and its methods. Great interest was manifested, so I ventured to tell the old story of a fire in an India rubber factory. This factory was a large, tall building, and when the alarm of fire was given one of the employees found himself on the top floor, with burning stairs under him. His only chance was to jump, but the pavement was so far below his windows that death seemed inevitable. Suddenly he bethought himself of the elastic properties of rubber, of which the room was full. Could he envelop himself with it he might jump and strike the sidewalk softly. So he donned rubber coats, belts, diving suits and everything else he could find until he made the serious mistake of putting on too much, for when he jumped he rebounded from the pavement again and again continued to do so for five days, when a merciful police officer came along and shot the poor fellow to save him from the awful fate of starving to death.

About half an hour after I told this voracious story one of my audience came to me and asked:

"Mr. Wilder, do you think that police officer was justified?"

Government Weather Observer John A. Perry reports a rain fall of one inch and five hundredths from midnight Monday up to noon Tuesday. The ground is thoroughly soaked in nearly every part of the county and the farmers are willing to have the rain stop right here. Many of them would be plowing if it were not for the rain, and the corn has had enough moisture to do for some time.

Shelbyville Democrat: On the farm of James Agnew on the Morristown pike about three miles from this city is a corn stalk whose tassels are thirty-five feet from the ground. That was the story which caused a number of persons to wink the other eye. But when explained by its author, the genial S. Herbert Morris of the S. B. Morris store, it was very simple. In an ash tree some distance above the ground, a bird had dropped a grain of corn in a fork. The warm rains and sunshine caused this grain to sprout and the corn stalk now stands there waving majestically in the wind high above the other stalks in a nearby corn field.

CUT YOUR WEEDS TO SAVE TROUBLE

People May be Fined Who Fail to Cut Weeds When Ordered.

The City Council is preparing to make war against those property owners who are trying to raise weeds for seed upon their lots within the corporation lines.

Not only does this abuse mar the beauty of our city but it is also injurious to the health. There are two ways to make property owners cut weeds by our State law, and these may be enforced by our city official if the work is not quickly and properly done.

The weeds can be cut by order of the street commissioners and the bill presented to the owner, or a fine of fifty cents a day can be imposed upon the guilty party for not cutting weeds.
